As the new school year starts, the high school teens in Lori Harris's Virtual Enterprise (VE) class have hit the ground running. In VE, students are immediately brought into the business world by running a virtual business. Over the past 2 weeks, the students have completed a resume, interviewed for job positions, and have been assigned jobs. To prepare for the class, the students have learned the importance of body language in an interview, certain techniques to build a good resume, and experienced a professional job interview. Nicole Harris attained the job of CEO, with Andy Lunsford as her second in command and CFO. Jeremy Yarbro is VE's Human Resource Director, and the Accounting team consists of Buck Bond, the Accounting Assistant, and Bailey Dickerson in Collections. Working in the shipping department of Down to Earth are Jade Smith and Austin Henson. Purchasing is run by Chandler Harris, who also works closely with the Marketing department, consisting of Jon Abdon as Sales Executive, James Hart, Head of Graphics and Design, and Savanna Liford, Products Manager. Fundraising is handled by Alli Franks, who is also the Office Assistant. Kelsey Harris is over all Public Relations and Customer Service. HCHS VE's team is working hard to run Down to Earth, by working as a team to bring new eco-friendly products to the virtual business world. Want Eco-Friendly Products? Hardin County High School band member Anna Kiddy has another role to play in increasing school spirit. After training this summer and working at cheer camp, Kiddy has been made HCHS's mascot, Two-Bits. Between donning a tiger head during pep rallies and marching with the Pride during halftime shows, Kiddy is a busy student. Tiger Tales' own Nick Edwards interviewed her earlier this week.

• How did you become the mascot?

"I won by a landslide," Kiddy laughed. "I was the only one who tried out."

• Do you enjoy being the mascot?

"I do, actually. My favorite part is being able to act outrageous without being judged. I also like making the kids happy."

• Would you have been the mascot sooner, given the chance?

"Yes, I would. It is a fun experience every time I get in the suit. I also enjoy being a part of the cheer squad. We're like a family."

• Being a part of the band is difficult enough already. Do you struggle to juggle the responsibilities of a trombone player and the mascot?

"Yes, because as soon as halftime is over, I have to get the suit on after playing [my trombone]. The practices also can conflict sometimes."

• Other than your numerous in-school extracurricular activities, what do you like to do?

"I love to watch Netflix. House is my favorite television show. I also love my animals - my rat, Wednesday; my hamster, Django; and my dog, Mr. Biscuit. I hang out at Wayne Jerrolds River Park a lot, and I perform at the Historic Savannah Theatre."

• What are your plans after high school?

"I plan to go to University of North Alabama to get a degree in Biology."

Anna Kiddy's position as mascot, she says, also opens up many scholarship opportunities for her. She looks forward to serving as the 2015 HCHS mascot and pumping up pep.

Watch Anna Kiddy march at sporting events, but look for "Two-Bits" to entertain everywhere else!

Will Gilchrist is one of the many new additions to the 2014-15 school staff. Gilchrist graduated from the University of Memphis, where he graduated in 2012 with an undergraduate degree in sports management and has graduate hours in secondary physical education. Gilchrist is currently teaching lifetime wellness at HCHS. He also coaches football, specifically working with the quarterbacks and defensive backs. Gilchrist said he knew he wanted to be a teacher and coach since he was a little kid, when he would come to HCHS with his dad and attend practices and games.

Outside of school he enjoys golfing, fishing, and kayaking. Gilchrist's definition of an ideal student is "one who comes to class and has a positive attitude daily. They must also participate and get involved with things going on in class and throughout the school.

They should work hard daily and give positive encouragement to their classmates. They should also have school spirit and is supportive of all things going on at HCHS."

Gilchrist hopes that his students will learn from him the importance of having a good attitude and working hard at whatever it is they choose to do. He also hopes they learn the importance of treating others with the love and respect they deserve. HCHS welcomes the new Coach Gilchrist!
